

CLASS OFFICERS

For the last few weeks elections have been held by the various classes for class officers. Each candidate gave a short speech and then the ballots were handed out. After a few run-offs the following were elected:

	SENIORS	JUNIORS	SOPHOMORES	FRESHMEN
President	Joe Mitter	Mike Bauer	Arlynn Tamashiro	Darryl McCall
Vice-President	Robert Crane	Janis Longeway	Eddie Pasatiempo	Laura Clegg
Secretary	Jean Okumura	Jean Watt	Diane Silverthorne	Judy Bowie
Treasurer	Paul Michaelis	Marv Livesay	Don Bringle	Lynn Harvey

The "Echoes" staff would like to congratulate the winners of the class elections for 1969-'70.

art field trip

Last Tuesday Mr. Rydelius sponsored a field trip to Tokyo to see the Gauguin exhibit at the Seibu departement store in Shibuya and also the Henry Moore sculpture and art design at the Modern Museum of Art. Mr. Nohara went also to interpret.

The Gauguin exhibit was very crowded, and the classes did not get to see too much of it.

The sculpture and the art at the Modern Museum occupied most of the classes' time.

ALL SCHOOL PLAY

The following is the cast for the All-School play entitled "Time Out for Ginger."

Lizzie	Linda Norrington
Agnes	Louann Reitz
Howard	Steve Norden
John	Marge Ursettie
Jeannie	Shannon Nash
Ginger	Diane Smith
Eddy Davis	Paul Hoerr
Tom Green	Karl Bury
	David LaRue
Mr. Wilson	Charles Washburn
Ed Hoffman	Randy Armstrong

The all school play, "Time Out For Ginger," will be presented on Nov. 21 and 22. The 3-act comedy was written by Ronald Alexander and was a Broadway success starring Melvyn Douglas. It promises to be a laugh-filled event for all.

came in fifth, Jack Thompson sixth, Robert Murray ninth, and Mike Thompson twelfth. They were followed by John Lowell and Craig Harvey. And, believe it or not, our girls also beat out several of the ASIJ boys. Lynn Harvey, Dianne Silverthorn, Eileen Cassady, Mary Jane Allen, and Cindy Cassady, in that order (the last two tied), finished ahead of three of the Mustang runners (?) who stumbled in about five minutes later.

AN "ECHOES" EDITORIAL

Last Saturday, October 4, buses were waiting in front of the school to take spectators to the ASIJ game. The first bus was reserved for the tennis team. The next was for the cheerleaders and Pep Squad. By the time these were filled the spectators realized that they had better get in line. One group lined up before the last bus, waiting for Mr. Spaulding to check the names on the sheets. When these students tried to get on the other buses they found that there was no more room. Mr. Spaulding then announced that only 16 other spectators could go. These 16 had to sit on folding chairs in the aisles of the buses.

The remaining spectators were told they would have to wait for the Varsity spectator buses or just forget about going to the game. When all was squared away and the buses finally left it was 8:30-45 minutes after the scheduled time.

This whole mess could have easily been avoided if enough buses were ordered. If someone goes over the sign up sheet and excludes all the names of people who do not go to Yo-Hi, and, if the people who do not sign up are not allowed on the buses, this problem will not recur.

Let's make sure we don't need any folding chairs for our next away game at Chofu.

INTERVIEWS

Not all Yo-Hians hang out in the same places--the Teen Club or the Cafeteria aren't the only places that a teen can go. This week we asked two questions of some Yo-Hians: (a) Where do you usually hang out, and (b) What is there to do there?

We received some pretty interesting answers: Augustine Martinez - (a) Bowling Alley; (b) I go bowling there!

Mike McCright - (a) Tatami room; (b) I go there to practice my Karate with my friends.

Steve Meyer - (a) Anywhere and everywhere; (b) Anything and everything.

Mario Cervantez - (a) Off Base; (b) Go see girls and go to the movies.

Ed Pasatiempo (a) Any place where there are people that I know; (b) Talk and just exist.

Mike Goethe - (a) Anywhere where there is someone special I know; (b) Talk and other things.

Lona Manu - (a) Home or Doug's house; (b) Watch T.V., eat, and talk with Douglas.

Barbara Chihara - (a) Tokyo or downtown Yokohama; (b) Lots of things--movies, shopping, galleries, discotheques, museums...

Mike Walker - (a) On my Honda 750; (b) Ride!

Robert Munson - (a) Nowhere in particular; (b) Just go where my friends are and talk.

Richard Takamoto - (a) Recreation Center; (b) Shoot pool.

MISS TEEN

On Friday, October 3, the Miss Teen Contest was held at the Yokohama Teen Club. The Music Explosion supplied the entertainment, giving their first performance. Out of the many contestants for Miss Teen the winners were Lona Manu, escorted by Marvin Livesay, Mieko Tracy, escorted by Neal Reitz, and Queen Sig Schmidt, escorted by Bill Yoder. Yo-Hi gives its warmest congratulations.

Also deserving thanks are Mrs. Thornburg, Mrs. Yoder, and Mrs. Scott for helping fix the Teen Club for the dance. They have worked hard to help our teen club and we can tell the improvements.

Keep in touch with the "Echoes" for more of the happenings around the Yokohama & Yokosuka teen clubs.

participant on the girls' tennis team, and she has already won three victories for Yo-Hi.

This "Yokosuka kid" is usually found talking in the crowded first floor halls or Cafeteria with Judy T., Sherry R., Becky H., or Jean O., or yelling out "Buzzards!" once every split second.

The "Echoes" Interviews & Names page thought it would take a different type of poll this week by asking only girls this question-- "Would you like to have girls' school sports, and what kind of sport would you like to participate in?"

Donna Barker - "I think a basketball team and a bowling team would be great!"

Mary Jane Allen - "I think letting the girls on the cross-country is great. Basketball would be fun, and so would a soccer team.

Geri Yaji - "During my 7th and 8th grade we had a girls' track and field team. We participated against Yokosuka and Johnson. Of course we won. We used to also have a girls' softball team. Why don't we try and get a girls' basketball team?"

Mariam Meyers - "A girls' basketball team would be fun, and so would a girls' football team.

Linda Higgs - "Bowling and basketball."

Mary Ratific - "A girls' basketball team and softball team would be great to have."

Judy Teshima - "It would be really great if we could get a girls' basketball team, softball team, and maybe even a girls' flag football team! I'm sure a lot of girls would participate; it's what we've all been wanting. Up until now many of us could only look forward to Powderpuff but that's only once a year. If we could possibly have a girls' intramural program, I'm sure it'd be a lot of fun!"

Kathy Fletcher - "I was on a volley ball team when I was in junior high. I would like a Gymnastics team, track and field team, soccer team, basketball team, ping pong team, bowling team, etc...I like sports so I wouldn't care what kind. Swimming is good and so is softball."

Karen Stephenson - "I think swimming and soccer would be good to have."

Yukiko Takara - "A girls' basketball and Volleyball team would be great!"

Most of the girls here at Yo-Hi seem to really want a girls' sports program in which they could participate and earn letters. Basketball seems to be the most favored sport of all....How about it, Mr. Spaulding?

MYSTERY

Our mystery person this week is a senior girl who came to Yo-Hi as a junior last November. She is originally from New York but she came to Japan from San Diego, California.

She is a 5'3" blond, well almost blonde. She has blue eyes and her hair is kept short. She is an active Contemporary is the key word for this week and Barbra Streisand is our featured performer. Her newest album at the PX is called Barbra Streisand in Central Park.

The whole program was put on in downtown New York, right smack in the heart of good old Muggsville (Central Park) under the watchful eye of some 100,000 fans.

Songs featured are "Second Hand Rose," "Silent Night," and many others.

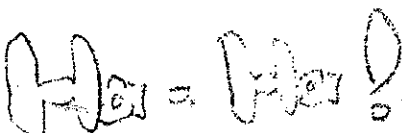

The acoustics aren't the best in the world because of the location, but it is still a fine album. It's a live performance and the audience presence is very evident at the end of each song.

For all movie-goers, there is a large supply of soundtracks at the PX. To name a few: Chitty Chitty Bang Bang, Oliver, Funny Girl, 2001 Space Odyssey, Sweet Charity, and more.

One day a farmer's hired hand received 50¢ too much in his pay envelope, but he didn't say a word.

During the week the farmer noticed his mistake, and on the next pay deducted 50¢.

"Excuse me, sir," said the hand. "I'm 50¢ short this week."

"You didn't complain last week."

"No, sir," said the hired man. "I figured I'd overlook one mistake, but when it happens twice, then it's time to say something."

Personnel Director: "For this job we want someone who is responsible."

Brash Young Man: "Then I'm your man. Everywhere I've worked, whenever something went wrong, I was responsible."

What do you think we should do about the Senior Garden?

Wayne Sakai - Let the seniors clean it.

Fernando Viray - Students should clean it every week.

Gary Sato - Needs improvement.

Alonzo Flores - Fix it up.

Mark Schmidt - Get some volunteers to clean it.

Warwick Ferretti - They've let it slide so long it wouldn't be worth the time it takes to fix it.

"Crumb, it's locked," Miles announced.

"What is?" I asked.

"His stupid old drawer," Miles answered. "Now we'll never find out what's in it. Unless..."

"Miles Walsh, don't go getting any ideas! Mr. Dripple is going to burst in that door any minute now," I cautioned.

"Who's got a jack-knife?" Miles asked.

"I'm busting this thing open!"

"Miles!" I shrieked.

Just then Tommy Markson jumped from his seat. He hurled his knife and it stuck into the wood surrounding the chalkboard. Miles whipped it out and began prying! Oh, Godfrey! Now I've had it. He's going to blame me!

I heard the wood screech as Miles patiently pryed. All of a sudden a huge piece of wood flew in the air and my stomach flew to my feet.

"It's open," Miles yelled.

"Yep, and so's the door," Markson announced.

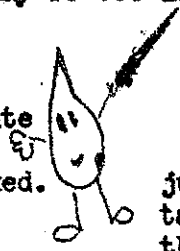

In walked Mr. Dripple with Mr. Baulding, our principal. I looked around and somehow Miles had managed to slink back to his seat.

DISTANT DEVILS

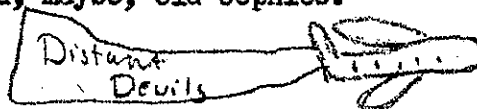

This week we are featuring distant juniors. Don't get alarmed if a distant junior's name does not appear in this column. It's not that they've dropped dead; it's just that they are a little too distant to locate.

On the West Coast we have Margaret Dyer who lives in Long Beach, Calif, Barbara Hazelton was living in San Diego, but can now be found in the Evergreen State, Washington. Leslie Freed and Pam Christian are two more Californians.

Moving East we find Tish Burkett in Colorado Springs, Colorado (within walking distance of the Air Force Academy).

Around Tennessee we see Ruth Pennington and moving far east (no, not Japan) we locate Carol Chaffin and Carol Hamachi in New Jersey. In Maryland there's good old Kathy Murphy.

Next Week: grads, seniors, juniors, and, maybe, old sophies.

VARSITY VICTORY

Yeah Team!

Last Saturday, Oct. 4, the unbeaten Yo-Hi Varsity football team was hosted by the winless ASIJ Mustangs at ASIJ. The outcome became evident after Yo-Hi's first series of plays as they drubbed the game but outmanned Mustangs by a score of 38-6.

First quarter action saw the Devils capitalize on an ASIJ fumble deep in their own territory. The Devils scored from 5 yds. out as fullback Neal Reitz plowed his way through the Mustangs' defense for Yo-Hi's first score. The PAT was good and the score stood 8-0 in favor of Yo-Hi. Late in the 1st quarter Mike McLaughlin broke loose for 40 yds. and Yo-Hi's 2nd TD of the game. Some fine blocks were laid downfield by Boyd Roper, Bryce Kelley, Dan McCorvey and Dave Bess. The score now stood 16-0 after Yo-Hi successfully completed a pass for the PAT.

Second quarter action began with Yo-Hi getting on the scoreboard again. With plenty of time to pass, Bill Mendelson put the ball right in Bryce Kelley's hands for a 45 yd. TD. The PAT pass to Ray Eubanks was good and the score now stood at 24-0. The Yo-Hi kick-off to ASIJ following this TD produced a big surprise for the spectators and players, especially those of Yo-Hi. ASIJ returned the ball 80 yds. for their 1st score of the game. The PAT was no good and the score stood 24-6. For the remainder of the 2nd quarter, the now inspired Mustangs controlled the ball but were unable to score over or through Yo-Hi's firm defense. First half action ended with Chris Huddleston intercepting an ASIJ pass which enabled Yo-Hi to run the clock out.

With the beginning of the second half Yo-Hi emerged as the team in control both offensively and defensively.

Getting it all started early in the 3rd quarter was Mike McLaughlin's 80 yd. TD run on a hand-off from Bill Mendelson. Again the key blocks were laid down by Bryce Kelley, Boyd Roper, Dan McCorvey, and Dave Bess. The PAT was no good and Yo-Hi stretched its lead to 30-6. Later, receiving all the time needed from Yo-Hi's great offensive line, QB Mendelson connected with Bruce Watt on a 25 yd. TD pass. The PAT pass to Ray Eubanks was good again and the score stood 38-6 with 4th quarter action ready to begin.

The last quarter saw Yo-Hi bring in their reserves quarterbacked by Jack Marquardt. The Yo-Hi second string offense and defense proved too much for the 1st string ASIJ lineup as the Devils moved the ball upfield on offense while the defense forced the Mustangs' offense to fumble repeatedly. The gun sounded with Yo-Hi still in control of the game and holding a fine 3-0 record. The final score again: Yo-Hi 38 - ASIJ 6.

TENNIS

J.V.

VICTORY

Last week Yo-Hi's racketeers met ASIJ on the home courts of the Mustangs. The opposition proved rough competition, defeating Yo-Hi 4-1.

Yo-Hi's number one girl, Billie Heath, lost her match, but Beth Chambers, playing in the number two spot, attained a victory. Winning their doubles match, Marie Sharples and Pam Ryan provided the finishing touches to bring about another victory for our girls' team.

The top three members of the boys' team, Don Bringle, Joe Mitter, and Martin Meyers, were defeated. The doubles team consisting of Mike Ryan and Sam Iwata also bowed to ASIJ. The only winning match for the boys was played by Jack Ryder and Bob Carter.

Devils Ride Mustangs

The Yo-Hi Red Devils' J.V. exploded for 20 points in the first quarter to surprise the ASIJ Mustangs last Saturday and coast to a 34-0 victory.

On the first series of downs Don Pasatiempo scored and Bruce Bowie added the extra points to make the score 8-0. Then the ASIJ offense got a crack at the ball but on a 4th and 20 situation they were forced to punt. A good rush by Yo-Hi blocked the punt and the offense of Yo-Hi got started again and this time the drive was climaxed by a Mike Goethe run for six points.

Now the score stood at 14-0. The ball traveled up and down the field only to have another punt blocked by Yo-Hi. Again the Yo-Hi offense got under way. This time the climax came on a long Doug Roper run.

As the second quarter got underway the ASIJ team still had not reached Yo-Hi's 30 yd. line. The Yo-Hi defense kept the Mustang attack down to nothing by dropping the runners before they even reached the line of scrimmage. After another blocked punt QB Ed Pasatiempo scored and Don Pasatiempo added two more to the Yo-Hi cause to lead the Devils to a half-time 28-0 advantage.

After half-time the Mustang defense kept the great Yo-Hi attack down. But an even better Yo-Hi defense dropped the ASIJ QB and all the backfield men uncounted times and stopped pass plays before they even started. They also had 5 out of 7 blocked punts.

Yo-Hi's Mike Goethe trotted over for the last points of the game as the third quarter ended. During the fourth quarter Yo-Hi replaced the first string with the second string and gave the replacements a test under fire. Although they did not score they kept the Mustangs from scoring and as the final gun sounded the Yo-Hi Devils had another victory, this one 34-0.

Yo-Hi wishes to thank Bruce Vollerston for his fine work since this was his last game with the Yo-Hi Red Devils.

A few days ago you may have read a little item in the daily bulletin that said something like "Students are reminded that public displays of affection are in poor taste. Students are asked to refrain from them." That isn't the exact wording, but it encompasses the general meaning.

It is hard to understand just what was meant by the statement. Were any and all displays of affection in public to be stopped? A smile is a display of affection. Should a boy and girl keep from smiling.

It is hard to understand this directive. It might be a hold-over from Colonial Puritan New England. If two people want to show affection for each other by holding hands or kissing, there is no reason why they shouldn't. Love isn't a dirty thing and therefore should not be swept away in a corner.

Just so these paragraphs are not misleading, a statement of limitations is due. The above doesn't mean that each and every couple should hold hands and kiss publicly. It is up to their discretion, naturally. The limit of public displays of affection must not be overly done, but to say refrain from them is also not necessary. ... R.A.

Yo-Hi

Once in every great while a person or group of people are privileged to attend an institution whose high qualities of education are unmatched anywhere in the known universe. We at Yo-Hi are such personages.

Attending Yo-Hi is sort of like going to an Ivy-League High School in Japan. It is because of the high level of intelligence in the student body.

The instructors at Yo-Hi are of the highest caliber anywhere. This plus the fact that Yo-Hi has revolutionary courses and programs makes the school a landmark in scholastic history.

Therefore in the final conclusion one may surmise that I'm proud of Yo-Hi and that perhaps I have a tendency to lie.

Manhood

A boy way back in the days of the cave man
Had to properly act to become a real man.
He had to kill a beast or tame an old bear
To eat with the men and be welcome there.
A boy living in ancient Greece had to throw
The discus, or become a priest
Before he was a full grown hand--
It wasn't easy becoming a man.
The Indians sent a boy out to forage.
Without food or water to prove his courage
And only when he had successfully returned
Was his candle of victory ever burned.
And even the way-back homeless Hebrews
Gave a barmitzva when one's boyhood he losed.
Every country, people, and state
Has had some way to determine this date.
But alas what is it in our own U.S.A?
Is there any way of telling when comes that day?
Yes, in boy-to-man history we've written a new page.
Our symbol of manhood? The beer guzzling age.

New to Yo-Hi is our English IIB and Spanish I teacher, Miss Hightower.

After arriving on Trans-International Airlines, she found, as have the rest of us Statesiders, that Japan is quite different. In fact, one of her most embarrassing moments was when she caught the wrong train and had to pay 800 yen more to get home.

When asked how she liked chopsticks she said, "I need a left-handed pair."

Miss Hightower was no exception to those of us who looked at Yo-Hi skeptically the first time. Coming from San Clemente High School in Orange County where President Nixon has his West Coast White House, she thought that the school's appearance might resemble its spirit. "Most unusual, though, is the school spirit," she said. "I thought that there would be only a little but this school's is great!"

Miss Hightower is in charge of the annual, The Krimson K. She wants everybody to buy one. ("Remember, the earlier you buy one, the less it costs.") For relaxation she likes to swim, water ski, play tennis, and play golf.

On the subject of teachers' pets she says, "I think a teacher should be as objective as possible, but what would I do without J.O.?" On both males and females she would like the hair not to go past the eyebrows. "I like to see people's eyes," she explains. We'd like to welcome her to Yo-Hi and hope her stay is enjoyable.

Oh yes, she likes her turkey with cranberries.

CHURCH LOVERS

Dear Mr. Ben Gainsome,

I am very pleased that you have expressed your opinions however ridiculous and illogical. To say that I disagree with you would be an understatement.

Some of the premises which you assumed such as the bride's dress code distress me. However, to repeat my opinions would only be redundant and boring both to readers and you.

I have never been one for personal attacks, but may I suggest it would be of more benefit to us all if you kept your letters strictly to the point. I will be glad to discuss issues with you at any time, if you'll assure me you can stick to the subject. Should our conversations lead to interesting conclusions, I am sure there is room in the "Echoes" for them. However, until that happens, I will regard the case as closed.

The budding genius,
Randy Armstrong

Dear Editor:

Seemingly Mr. Armstrong has gone running for the protection of his mother's apron in shame over his editorial about the church. So today the guns of literary quality pivot, turn, and fire upon articles which appeared in the last few editions of the "Echoes."

Every paper has the duty to inform its readers about their immediate environment, but also it should discuss controversial subjects that affect its readers. Our school paper has a tendency to shun taking sides over any subject and exudes a middle-of-the-road perfectly "blah" attitude which fails to stimulate interest or thinking.

(Although I did not agree with what Mr. Armstrong said, I do applaud his shallow attempt at a "Speaking Out" article. It stimulated thought.)

What the "Echoes" needs is more of this kind of writing and less of the idiotic rhetoric which fills its pages... most notably the "Ranky Rumors" and "Juicy Gossip" type of inane babbling.

One other major fault of this paper is the failure of any writer to sign his or her articles. The one exception to this statement is John Dempsey, who, in my opinion, should turn his creative talents to other outlets of writing. In other words, just to plug my second paragraph, he should write editorials. Why not?

Finally I cannot resist (and therefore won't) addressing one Miss Gail Albers who should keep combing her flowing locks instead of making photostats of my letters. About the only difference in hers was the ending. (She must have run out of carbon paper.)

"GETSOME,
GAINSOME!" Sincerely,
Ben Gainsome, Jr.

has signed up so we can have a chance to show

Thank you, Loyal Yo-Hian.

MORE BUSES!

Dear "Echoes":

I share a concern with many other fellow students who live in Yokosuka. Shuttle busses do not run after 4:30. There are none in the early morning and only three a day anyway. How are we supposed to get home after a game, or, better still, up here in the first place? Sure, you can stay overnight with kids up here, but that gets tiring; or you can take trains, but that costs and is a pain in the neck anyway. Can't the school provide buses, or maybe the teen club? I know the military budget is being cut but this is ridiculous! We didn't ask to live here!

Dear Miss Albers,

Your letter on the church service was quite thought provoking. Still, I cannot see giving offeratory on the installment plan; it is too much like Madison Avenue.

However I am relieved to know that dress regulations are not stringently enforced by the church. I doubt that no matter how observant I am of the hymns that my opinion will not change. (How can you assume I've never looked at the words?)

But don't let me discourage you from writing. Write again. As well as being critical, also write if there is something you really like.

NO SEATS?!

Dear Editor,

This letter concerns the A.S.I.J. game last Saturday. There were quite a few individuals who signed up for the buses as early as Mon. Sept. 29, and were not even permitted to ride the bus!!!

These people had a choice of either waiting until 11:00 for the Varsity bus, or try and find their way by train. Either way they would miss the J.V. game.

I feel that if these people have enough school spirit to wake up at 6:00 A.M. and be down at the school in plenty of time to catch the bus, the least they deserve is a seat. There were also people in the back seat who were willing to squeeze over and make room for one more. I think these offers should have been utilized.

Everybody talks about the lousy school spirit shown here at Yo-Hi. Let's get organized and order enough buses for everyone who Loyal Yo-Hian.
